

amazon crossing

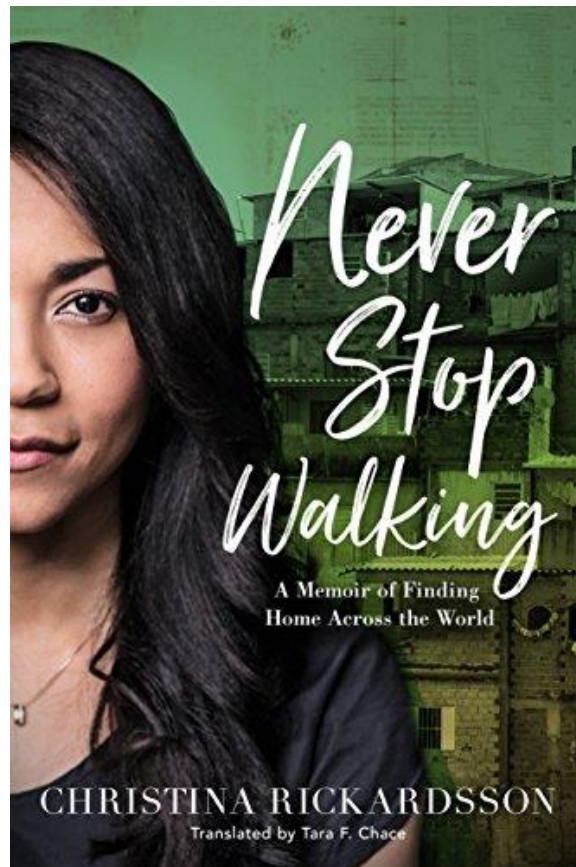

Amazon's exciting new Brazilian author,
now in English!

Never Stop Walking:

A Memoir of Finding Home Across the World

By Christina Rickardsson & Tara F. Chace

“Both candid and compelling, Rickardsson’s story is not only about a woman seeking to heal the fractures inherent in a transnational identity; it is also a moving meditation on poverty, injustice, and the meaning of family. A thought-provoking and humane memoir of survival and self-discovery.”
—Kirkus Reviews

An extraordinary memoir of one woman’s fight to find her true self between the life into which she was born and the one she was given.

9781503900967

Pub Date: 1-June-18

$24.95 • Hardcover

237 Pages

5.5 x 8.2 in

Biography & Autobiography /
Personal Memoir

“A haunting story of balancing identities, Rickardsson’s debut is an unforgettable meditation on the weight of early childhood trauma and recovery.”

—Booklist

Christiana Mara Coelho was born into extreme poverty in Brazil. After spending the first seven years of her life with her loving mother in the forest caves outside São Paulo and then on the city streets, where they begged for food, she and her younger brother were suddenly put up for adoption. When one door closed on the only life Christiana had ever known and on the woman who protected her with all her heart, a new one opened.

A memoir of two selves, Never Stop Walking is the moving story of the profound love between families and one woman’s journey from grief and loss to survival and self-discovery.